Illinois & Michigan Canal National Heritage Corridor

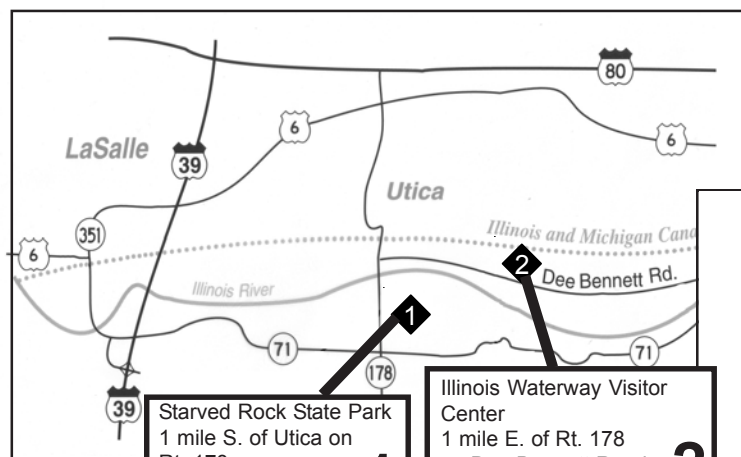

Passport to Your National Parks®

The Passport to Your National Parks® program is a nation-wide program. Many national parks participate in the program, with larger parks often having more than one Passport Cancellation Stamp. Since the I&M Canal National Heritage Corridor is nearly 100 miles long, nine different cancellation stamps are available. Your travels will take on new meaning as you visit different areas of the National Heritage Corridor to complete your collection of Passport Cancellation Stamps. These stamps, similar to the ones international travelers receive in their passports, record your visit by noting the site name and date. Cancellations are free of charge. You must visit a site to get your stamp; they are not available by mail.
